

ABSTRACT

A mobile computer with an integrated micro projection display. The apparatus of one embodiment comprises a computing subsystem to process data and execute program instructions. An optical subsystem is coupled to the computing subsystem. The optical subsystem is integrated into the apparatus to project an image for the computing subsystem onto a viewing surface.